Dear Parishioners,

I would like to share this story with you.

BANK ACCOUNT

A 92 year old, petite, well-poised and proud man, who is fully dressed each morning by 8 am, with his hair fashionably combed and shaved perfectly, even though he is legally blind, moved to a nursing home today.

His wife of 70 years recently passed away, making the move necessary. After many hours of waiting patiently in the lobby of the nursing home, he smiled sweetly when told his room was ready. As he maneuvered his walker to the elevator, he was provided a visual description of his tiny room, including the eyelet sheets that had been hung on his window.

"I love it," he stated with the enthusiasm of an eight-year-old having just been presented with a new puppy.

"Mr. Jones, you haven't see the room yet, just wait."

"That doesn't have anything to do with it" he replied. "Happiness is something you decide on ahead of time. Whether I like my room or not doesn't depend on how the furniture is arranged...it's how I arrange my mind. I already decided to love it. It's a decision I make every morning when I wake up. I have a choice. I can spend the day in bed recounting the difficulty I have with the parts of my body that no longer work, or get out of bed and be thankful for the ones that do. Each day is a gift, as long as my eyes open, I'll focus on the new day and all the happy memories I've stored away...Just for this time in my life" Old age is like a bank account. You withdraw from it what you've put in. So, my advice to you would be to deposit a lot of happiness in the bank account of memories!

Thank you for your part in filling my Memory Bank. I am still depositing.

Remember the five simple rules to be happy:

1. Free your heart from hatred.
2. Free your mind from worries.
3. Live simply.
4. Give more.
5. Expect less.

Prayer & Best Wishes!

STEWARDSHIP –

In the first letter of Peter, we are taught that God made us and chose us to reveal to the world who he is. Christian stewards understand that they do not live for themselves. They live to be stewards of Christ's presence within them, and to make his presence known to others. They do it at Mass. They do it in faith-sharing groups. They do it at work. And they do it daily in a thousand different ways; and where they express their love for God and others in a manner that suits their situation and personality. Name for yourself some of the ways this week you will make Christ's presence know to others.

Did you know that the Church has always given people the Bible in their native tongue? At first, the Bible was in Greek because that was the universal language in the area where Christ ministered.

Afterward, as Greek gave way to Latin, the Church published St. Jerome's famous translation known as "The Vulgate". The Latin word "vulgus" means "common man". For hundreds of years in the West, anyone who could read, could read in Latin. There was no need to translate the Bible into other languages. But as more and more people became literate in their native tongue, meaning more and more people could read, the Church began to translate the Bible into the vernacular of the people.

When Gutenberg invented the printing press, it made it easier for people to own and read the Bible. But even before that there were copies already in English, Spanish, Italian, Danish, French, Polish, Bohemian and Hungarian!

The Catholic version of the Bible has 73 books, as opposed to Protestant Bibles that only contain 66 books. The Protestants claim that Catholics added 7 books to the canon of the Bible, but history shows us that Protestants took these 7 books away from their canon. The 7 books are called "The Apocrypha" which means secondary canon.

St. Jerome rejected the deuterocanonical books when he was translating the Bible into Latin circa 450. This was because no Hebrew version of these texts could be found, even though they were present in the Greek Old Testament (the Septuagint). However, they eventually were accepted by the Church, and most of them remained part of the Bible.

The Roman Catholic Council of Trent declared in 1546 that the deuterocanonical books were indeed divine. There was a time when Catholics were not encouraged to read the Bible because the fear was it would be interpreted incorrectly. But reading Scripture is strongly encouraged today. There are footnotes to help explain certain verses, and each book of the Bible has an introduction to help you understand what you are reading. Also, there are three things to keep in mind when you read the Bible.

First, remember that the whole Bible hangs together in a story of love and salvation.

Second, we need to read the Bible in the context of the Church's living traditions; the witness of the saints and the prayers of the liturgy.

Lastly, we need to understand that the Bible does not contradict Catholic doctrine, in fact the dogmas and creeds help to explain and summarize all that is in the Scriptures!

There are many versions of the Bible but my personal favorites are "The Catholic Study Bible" and "The Catholic Youth Bible". If you haven't been reading Scripture, start with the gospel of Luke, and then move on the Paul's letter to the Romans.

See you soon! Karen
