Stewardship

The climactic event of Jesus' passion and death is drawing closer; a time when the great confrontation between Jesus and the powers of darkness take place. Jesus invites his disciples into a great mystery with curious pronouncements: Those who love their lives just as they are will lose them. If a grain of wheat dies, it will bear much fruit. When Jesus is lifted up, he will draw all to himself. The Christian steward knows life can't be lived in complacency. We are called to die to self, bear more fruit, be raised up with Jesus. In today's Gospel reading Jesus brings discomfort to those who are comfortable. Jesus urges us to step out of our "comfort zone." How will we respond to Jesus?

The community concert, under the direction of James Feddeck, former assistant conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra takes place at 7:30 pm on Friday, April 10th at Our Lady of Lourdes Parish, 3395 East 53rd street. Free tickets to the concert will be available at six locations throughout Broadway Slavic Village. Tickets limited to four per person. Seating is general admission and on a first-come, first served basis. Tickets will be available at Becker's Donuts, Bi-Rite Supermarket, R&K Sausage, Red Chimney, Seven Roses, & Neighborhood Summit at Bohemian National Hall.

Did you know that the third deadly sin is Anger? The Catechism defines anger this way: When considered as one of the capital sins, anger is that passion which leads one to either harm a person or want to harm a person because of a desire for vengeance. Thomas Aquinas defines anger as the unreasonable desire for vengeance or revenge.

We have all wrestled with anger. Anger at someone we perceived has hurt us, someone who has hurt us, and we have that desire to get back at them. You hurt me so I am going to hurt you! That attitude can be seen by some as being "OK", but is it really?

In Dante's "Purgatorio", he punishes the angry by inundating them with smoke. They can't see, the smoke chokes them and they cough and sputter. That is what anger does to us. We cannot see the other and we cut ourselves off from the other. That is the biggest problem with anger, it cuts off all communication. A clear example of this is in the Garden of Gethsemane, when Peter cuts off the ear of a servant. He cuts off the very organ of communication, the ear, and makes it impossible for any communication to happen. Anger does this to us, it cuts us off from each other so that we no longer communicate.

Fr. Robert Barron tells us that the lively virtue that is the antidote for anger is forgiveness. Forgiveness is not just of the mind, but it throws a monkey wrench into the works. Peter says to Jesus, "Lord, I am a sinful man, leave me!" and Jesus says, yeah, I know but I have a job for you! Isaiah said, "I am a man of unclean lips!" and God sends a seraph to purge Isaiah, and then says, Isaiah I have a job for you!

Forgiveness is God's way, God wants us to see our sin, but then turn it over to His forgiving mercy which will liberate us for our own "job" or mission! Forgiveness is very courageous and dangerous because it is putting yourself in the middle of something and saying "Stop!" Fr. Barron mentions that a young lawyer, Mahatmas Gandhi, read the gospel of Matthew and thought, wow, there is something to this! But when he began to talk to Christians, they were all "Yeah, yeah, we know." But Gandhi latched onto this message and took it to heart and was able to change both South Africa and India.

Another young man read the gospel and did the same thing and his name was Martin Luther King, Jr. Forgiveness is not wimpy or a way of "running away", it is a stand your ground attitude, but deftly getting out of the way of violence in order to dissipate it! Think about Jesus on the cross: All the violence, stupidity, hatred, and injustice of the world came roaring at him on the cross and Jesus allowed it to spend itself out on him and said, "Father, Forgive them." He could have sent legions of angels to save him, but He didn't. So what should we do? Forgive quickly, don't let it fester.

Take concrete steps to mend a broken relationship; send a letter, a card, an email, to open up communications again. Say only the good things that people need to hear. When we do this, we allow God's love to surge through us!

See you soon! Karen
